*How far Fairline Boats can go defies imagination! The Targa 58's deck saloon can transform into a magnificent open-air environment with the mere touch of a button.

Stunningly beautiful exterior lines, proportions and styling give this powerfully-built new sport cruiser unequalled presence on the move and at rest, but the evolution that has taken place on board is amazing.

Take the single-level living and galley space for example - a mere button-touch starts a remarkable transformation as the huge roof glides smoothly open and should you so choose, the side windows and patio door retract to convert the deck saloon into a magnificent open-air environment.

The option of an integral powered sunshade provides protection for the aft cockpit seating, which can also convert into a huge sunpad at the push of another button.

Unique and luxurious design is evident throughout the 58 starting with the elegant swept staircase with its light and airy atrium - and utility area to one side. This leads to a unique layout below deck and the accommodation is superbly equipped. Full advantage has been taken of the 58's huge beam to create a spectacular master cabin and the two sumptuously appointed VIP guest cabins (either twin or double) also have spacious en suites.

The voluminous lazette can be turned into an optional fourth cabin which is rare on an express cruiser of this size, and utilises space to the optimum.

Other significant features include:

- Concealed mechanised tender launch for Williams 385 Jet RIB - provides safe, clean and open transom.
- Powered bathing and boarding stairway for easy and safe operation.
- Up to 38-knot performance and the peerless handling

As soon as the first one arrives in South Africa, Leisure Boating will be doing a full review and will put the Targa 58 through its paces.

The spectacular master cabin has spacious en-suites, making the Targa 58 one of the most luxurious craft currently on the market.
