CAPE YACHTING BOATING WORLD'S

S TARGA 48 OPEN

Yachting is called the king of sports and the sport of kings and for good reason, because when you hit the perfect conditions at sea with the right crew and the right yacht, nothing comes even close to the experience. It is a whole summer wrapped in one perfect day. But, they do sometimes call it the "Cape of Storms", so it is seriously worth being guided into the sport by the very best in the industry.

It should have become part of the local lore by now that the Levy family of Boating World have salt water in their veins. Their patriarch was a water-ski champ and brought the family into yachting more than 50 years ago. Today, as a 40-year-plus veteran of the industry, Derrick Levy sits atop a mass of industry and ocean experience that is put to good use for Boating World's clients each day.

Operating from trendy Granger Bay, Boating World now exclusively represents many of the world's very top yachting brands in South Africa. On the power boating side, Derrick has made the award-winning British Fairline brand a household name among locals, and currently, one of the most exciting new yachts in Cape waters is the Fairline Targa 48 Open. See if you can spot it lying off Clifton on a perfect summer's day. Derrick reckons: "Some people aspire to own a Fairline for its comfort, style and luxury detailing and have no need to invest in the bigger – and consequentially more expensive – engine options. Fairline gives clients so much versatility."

Other trusted brands under Derrick and his team's watchful eye include the equally enchanting Rivas from Australia, the Searay range, Fountaine-Pajot (sail and power), Jeanneau (sail and power), as well as many well-known pre-owned yachts.

Regardless of your style of play, whether deep-sea game fishing, recreational ocean cruising, sailing, or anyone of the watersports, you would be well-advised to speak to Derrick and his team. Besides assisting you with a yacht purchase, Boating World offers a range of other complementary services, such as co-ownership programmes, maintenance plans, fishfinders/GPS equipment, air berths, marine insurance and much more.
